

A World on the Precipice: Reflections on War, Race, Class, and Gender

Will our future be defined by endless wars, occupations, and political repression, or have new openings emerged, from both practice and theory, that can point the way to an alternative to a global capitalism that is increasingly in disarray? Join us for an open discussion of these and related issues.

Thursday, July 18, 7:00 pm
AC Hotel Chicago
630 Rush Street, Chicago IL
Millenium Park Room (4th floor)

This an in-person, non-hybrid event

Speakers:

Kevin B. Anderson, author of Marx at the Margins
Death and Life in Gaza, Ukraine, and Sudan

Andrés Metacomet, XicanIndio Worker, Marxist
The Biosphere, the Anthropocene and 21st Century Capital: A Marxist Response

Heather A. Brown, author of Marx on Gender and the Family
LGBTQ Rights and the Family:
What Does Marx Offer for Theorizing Alternatives to Capitalism?

Paul Kim, philosopher and student activist
Marx's Theory of Alienation Today

Sponsored by The Chicago Institute for Philosophical Humanism
and the International Marxist-Humanist Organization

For more information, contact
Email: arise@imhojournal.org
Website: imhojournal.org

Scan QR-code to sign up for free monthly newsletter:

A World on the Precipice: Reflections on War, Race, Class, and Gender

Will our future be defined by endless wars, occupations, and political repression, or have new openings emerged, from both practice and theory, that can point the way to an alternative to a global capitalism that is increasingly in disarray? Join us for an open discussion of these and related issues.

Thursday, July 18, 7:00 pm
AC Hotel Chicago
630 Rush Street, Chicago IL
Millenium Park Room (4th floor)

This an in-person, non-hybrid event

Speakers:

Kevin B. Anderson, author of Marx at the Margins
Death and Life in Gaza, Ukraine, and Sudan

Andrés Metacomet, XicanIndio Worker, Marxist
The Biosphere, the Anthropocene and 21st Century Capital: A Marxist Response

Heather A. Brown, author of Marx on Gender and the Family
LGBTQ Rights and the Family:
What Does Marx Offer for Theorizing Alternatives to Capitalism?

Paul Kim, philosopher and student activist
Marx's Theory of Alienation Today

Sponsored by The Chicago Institute for Philosophical Humanism
and the International Marxist-Humanist Organization

For more information, contact
Email: arise@imhojournal.org
Website: imhojournal.org

Scan QR-code to sign up for free monthly newsletter: